Zangara Pleads Guilty To Murder Of Mayor Cermak

ASSASSIN IS ORDERED TO STAND TRIAL

Following Plea, Judge Orders Testimony Taken; Means Electric Chair

WITNESSES CALLED

Judge Waives Opportunity to Impose Life Sentence Instead of Death

MIAMI, Fla., March 9.—(UP)—Giuseppe Zangara, diminutive bricklayer, today pleaded guilty to a first degree murder charge in the fatal wounding of Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago, whom he shot in an attempt to assassinate Franklin D. Roosevelt, the president-elect, and was immediately placed on trial in Dade county circuit court.

The defendant was questioned by the state's attorney when he appeared before Judge Uly O. Thompson to plead to the indictments returned by the grand jury following the death Monday of Mayor Cermak.

"Your name is Joseph Zangara?" he was asked.

"Giuseppe, Italian, Joe, English, same time, same thing," he replied. Zangara stood tapping his foot, his arms folded as the charge was read to him.

"Do you, Joe Zangara, plead guilty or not guilty?"

"I wanta shoot president, kill all capitalists—I gotta do—I no like presidents."

Orders Testimony

Immediately following the formal plea of guilty, Judge Thompson ordered testimony to be taken to satisfy the court of the prisoner's guilt. Under the Florida law a man cannot be sent to the electric chair until proof of guilt is established to the satisfaction of the court. Judge Thompson, therefore had the discretion of imposing a life sentence, or death in the electric chair.

The first witness called was Tom Armour, Miami, who held Zangara until police took him in charge after he fired at an automobile bearing the president-elect here February 15.

Zangara already is under sentence to 30 years in prison on four counts of attempt to assassinate in connection with the bungled attempt to kill Roosevelt. The assassin's plea, specifically, was that he intended to shoot Roosevelt, and that in the attempt he did shoot and kill Cermak. He denied intent to kill the Chicago mayor, but under Florida law his plea constitutes a plea of guilty to murdering Cermak.

Questioning of Zangara was conducted by State's Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne of Dade county, who also conducted prosecution questioning of the witnesses.

Identifies Slayer

"Could you identify this man?" Hawthorne asked Armour.

MRS. ROOSEVELT IS HOUSE SPECTATOR

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(UP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt sent another precedent crashing today as she appeared in the house of representatives gallery to watch the opening of the special session of congress called by her husband to deal with the emergency.

Other "first ladies" have not appeared in congressional galleries except upon such extraordinary occasions as inaugurations or special ceremonies in which their husbands had the leading part. Mrs. Roosevelt came in at 11:57 a. m., accompanied by her son, James, and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau Jr.

JAPANESE RAIDS ON PEIPING AND TIENTSIN ARE FORECAST

EXTENSION OF MORTGAGE BILL PASSES HOUSE

Assembly Approves Measure Providing Moratorium on Foreclosures

BULLETIN

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 9.—(UP)—The assembly and senate today unanimously passed the bill providing a 60-day mortgage foreclosure moratorium on farm and dwellings.

In slightly over an hour from the time the bill reached the lower house, the measure was approved by both legislative bodies. It now goes to the governor for his signature.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 9.—(UP)—The assembly today passed the 60-day farm and dwelling mortgage foreclosure moratorium bill.

The measure, sponsored by Assemblyman B. J. Feigenbaum, San Francisco, would protect all homes and ranches from foreclosure sale during the present financial crisis.

Inability to raise cash to meet current obligations and prevailing unrest were arguments supporting the bill.

The act bears an urgency clause. It will come before the senate immediately. The upper house was expected to approve it with the same alacrity as the assembly.

RILEY-STEWART TAX PLAN UP ON MONDAY

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 9.—(UP)—The proposed Riley-Stewart tax plan for California, will be placed on the legislative firing line next Monday at a joint session of the house and senate committees on revenue and taxation.

The plan, a drastic change in the taxation system of California sponsored by State Controller Ray Riley and Fred Stewart, member of the board of equalization, has been slightly altered.

More important amendments to the original plan provide for exclusion of gross receipts of publicly owned utilities from the new tax base and exclusion of publicly owned utilities and assessment districts from budgetary control.

JIMMIE WALKER IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

MIAMI, Fla., March 9.—(UP)—Mrs. James J. Walker, wife of the former mayor of New York, today sued for divorce here on grounds of "wilful desertion." The suit was brought in circuit court by A. Frank Katzenbach, attorney of Miami Beach.

The ex-mayor, since his dramatic resignation from the New York mayoralty while under the fire of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt for official misconduct, has been enjoying life along the Riviera, in southern France. He has been almost constantly in the company of Miss Betty Compton, actress.

BANKING SITUATION TODAY

The banking situation has eased up. While it may seem to be a little, it is very considerably better, considering what it has been.

Banks To Clear Last Friday Checks Today

NEW YORK, March 9.—(UP)—The New York Clearing House will begin clearing last Friday's checks at 4 p. m. today. Mortimer N. Buckner, president of the association, said the clearing house is waiting word from Washington to permit reopening of banks tomorrow. ### DRASTIC BANK REFORM MOVE IS SUGGESTED

Chase National Head Seeks to Break Power of Overlords of Finance

NEW YORK, March 9.—(UP)—The Rockefeller interests were lined up against the Morgans and other powerful financial groups today in seeking a way out of the bank crisis.

Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National bank, largest in the world, proposed last night a drastic bank reform program which in effect would break the power of the overlords of finance.

Aldrich, brother-in-law of John D. Rockefeller Jr., and former attorney for major Rockefeller interests, is regarded as a spokesman for the old family.

Aldrich's program would disrupt the board of directors of almost every major bank in New York, including his own, and would force absolute separation of commercial banking and investment banking.

DOROTHY ELLINGSON GIVEN FRESH START

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—(UP)—A "fresh start in life" was promised Dorothy Ellingson today. The 24-year-old girl who served seven years in San Quentin prison for the killing of her mother, was assured of her freedom by a former roommate, Miss Mary Ellis, who had accused her of stealing several articles of jewelry and wearing apparel. Threatened with return to prison, Dorothy made a vain attempt to kill herself by inhaling gas.

"I couldn't bear to send her back to prison," Miss Ellis said. "I want to give her a fresh start in life."

NAVY BUDGET FOR BRITAIN INCREASED

LONDON, March 9.—(UP)—British navy budget estimates, published today, provide for an expenditure of 53,570,000 pound sterling, an increase of 3,093,700 pounds over last year.

The admiralty has explained this year's estimates have been restricted due to the financial situation. The budget provides for construction of four cruisers, eight destroyers, one flotilla command craft, three submarines, three sloops and auxiliary craft.

PROPOSALS OF FACT FINDING BODY APPROVED

Senate Governmental Committee Moves for Economies in State

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 9.—(UP)—Drastic economies, consolidations and fundamental changes in the conduct of state government, all urged by the senate fact finding committee, were approved today by the senate governmental efficiency committee.

Bills providing the following changes were voted out "do pass":

Repeal of an appropriation of $400,000 authorized by the 49th legislature for the purchase of a Southern California site for a prison for incarcerating youths between 15 and 24 years.

Elimination of state supervision of city and county schools.

Abolishment of the office of director of penology and turn his duties over to the chairman of the board of prison terms and paroles.

It passed, Daniel J. O'Brien, director of penology, will lose his state job.

Abolishment of the crime commission, a criminal research bureau.

Abolishment of the advisory pardon board, composed of wardens of the two penitentiaries, lieutenant governor and chairman of the two prison boards.

Approval of an anti-nepotism law which prevents state officials from employing relatives down to a nephew of the third degree and a cousin of the fourth degree.

Other bills receiving senate committee approval today included:

Designating the California Institution for Women at Tehachapi as the female department of San Quentin prison to permit the transfer of women from the prison to Tehachapi.

A constitutional amendment giving the legislature power to delegate authority to the fish and game commission to redistrict fish and game areas and fix closed and open seasons to meet changing conditions.

NEW BATTLESHIP IS LAUNCHED IN NORTH

MARE ISLAND, March 9.—(UP)—Uncle Sam's new "pocket battleship," the 10,000 ton cruiser San Francisco, slid down the ways during colorful launching ceremonies at the navy yard today.

Christened by Miss Barbara Bailly, daughter of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. T. Edward Bailly of San Francisco, the cruiser left the drydock, floated gracefully in the bay, and later was towed to another dock where her construction will be completed.

Navy, state and city officials were among the hundreds of spectators who witnessed the launching.

The San Francisco, hailed as one of the most efficient fighting ships afloat, is the 15th of her class to be built under limitations of the 1922 Washington treaty.

PROTESTS ATTACKS ON U. S. CITIZENS

BERLIN, March 9.—(UP)—Charles Messersmith, consul general of the United States at Berlin, today handed the Prussian chief of police, Magnus Von Levettow, a memorandum concerning attacks on American citizens here.

The memorandum cited attacks on six citizens—all since Sunday—in their domiciles or on the streets. Five of the six attacked were of Jewish descent. In each case the men attacking the Americans were dressed in Nazi uniforms.

"The chief of police expressed regret at the occurrences and promised to take the requisite steps immediately," Messersmith said.

Chinese In Rout Along Wide Front

Evacuation of Americans and Foreigners Being Contemplated, Said

PEIPING, March 9.—(UP)—With Japanese fighting planes harrying the routed and fleeing Chinese army south of the Great Wall, the foreign colonies of Peiping and Tientsin today watched with increasing anxiety for indications of a Japanese invasion of these important Chinese cities.

Evacuation of Americans and other foreigners from both cities is being contemplated.

Operating along a wide front to consolidate its positions near Jehol City, the Japanese army, massed with every efficiency of modern warfare, is moving irresistibly southward. Shaken by the Jehol debacle, the retreat of the scattered Chinese forces has become a rout.

The immediate fear of the foreign colony here is that of an air raid over Peiping, which might be undertaken by the Japanese as a gesture of force and evidence of their intent to continue the march on this city. Yesterday's air attack on Chinese troops at Kupeikou, fifteen miles south of the Great Wall, increased anxiety.

While a large number of American business firms here have transferred substantial portions of their personnel to Shanghai, an extensive foreign and American colony remains. Other Americans at Tientsin, where the Fifteenth United States Infantry, commanded by Colonel Reynolds J. Burt, is stationed. The regiment comprises approximately 500 men and fifty officers. A detail of United States marines is stationed here.

Japanese forces have declared that they will not invade China proper, but foreigners point to the fact that these declarations are accompanied by one qualification—"unless the Chinese make it necessary." In the present tense situation anti-Japanese activities which could evoke such a "necessity" are almost inevitable.

Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, youthful commander in chief of Chinese armies in the northern zone, conferred today with Marshal Chiang Kai Shek, generalissimo of all China's forces, in a suburb of this city.

NEW LEADERS HEAD DRY ORGANIZATIONS

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(UP)—Organized dries turned to new leaders and fresh strategy in their battle to defeat ratification of the prohibition repeal amendment.

Nearly 1000 representatives of prohibition organizations meeting here decided to entrust their leadership to a committee of nine, none of whom shall be drawn from present officers of temperance bodies.

This action pushed into the background Bishop James Cannon, Dr. Clarence True Wilson, Ella A. Bockle, F. Scott McBride, Deets and others around whom prohibition forces have rallied for years. The present leaders will remain active, however, as members of a committee of 100 which will assist the smaller group.

RAINEY IS CHOSEN SPEAKER OF HOUSE

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(UP)—Rep. Henry T. Rainey, Dem., Ill., today was elected speaker of the house for the 73rd congress.

Rainey's election was a mere formality, ratifying the action of recent Democratic caucus which nominated the veteran liberal legislator as the party's candidate.

The vote for the speakership was Rainey 302; Snell, Repn., N. Y., 110; Kvale (Farmer Labor) Minn., 6.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(UP)—The text of President Roosevelt's message to the special session of congress follows:

To the senate and house of representatives:

On March 3, banking operations in the United States ceased. To review at this time the causes of this failure of our banking system is unnecessary. Suffice it to say that the government has been compelled to step in for the protection of depositors and the business of the nation.

Our first task is to reopen all sound banks. This is an essential preliminary to subsequent legislation directed against speculation with the funds of depositors and other violations of positions of trust.

In order that the first objective—the opening of banks for the resumption of business—may be accomplished, I ask of the congress the immediate enactment of legislation giving to the executive branch of the government control over banks for the protection of depositors; authority forthwith to open such banks as have already been ascertained to be in sound condition and other such banks as rapidly as possible; and authority to reorganize such banks as may be found to require reorganization.

I ask amendments to the Federal Reserve act to provide for such additional currency adequately secured, as it may become necessary to issue to meet all demands for currency and at the same time to achieve this end without increasing the unsecured indebtedness of the government of the United States.

I cannot too strongly urge upon the congress the clear necessity for immediate action. A continuation of the stragglings of banking facilities is unthinkable. The passage of the proposed legislation will end this condition and I trust within a short space of time will result in a resumption of business activities.

In addition, it is my belief that this legislation will not only lift immediately all unwarranted doubts and suspicions in regards to banks which are one hundred percent sound but will also mark the beginning of a new relationship between the banks and the people of this country.

The members of the new congress will realize, I am confident, the grave responsibility which lies upon me and upon them.

In the short space of five days it is impossible for us to formulate completed measures to prevent the recurrence of the evils of the past. This does not and should not, however, justify any delay in accomplishing this first step.

At an early moment I shall request of the congress two other measures which I regard as of immediate urgency. With action taken thereon we can proceed to the consideration of a rounded program of national restoration.

(Signed) Franklin D. Roosevelt

OPPOSITION TO HOUSE BEGINS MOVIE SALARY CONSIDERATION CUTS REVEALED

Screen Writers and Directors Refuse to Agree to Proposed Slash

HOLLYWOOD, March 9.—(UP)—In the face of "acceptance" of salary cuts by approximately 10,000 motion picture employees ranging from the highest paid directors and stars to office boys and stenographers, members of two branches of the industry organization today to inquire into the emergency and to avoid the wage slash by other means.

A "war board," to be composed of a representative from each of the five branches—the writers, directors, actors, technicians and producers—was initiated by the academy of motion picture arts and sciences, with power to act.

First reaction to the pay cut, ranging from 25 to 50 per cent over a period of eight weeks for salaries below and above $50 weekly, came at meetings of the writers and directors last night.

After a stormy session, the screen writers' guild of the authors' league of America, declined to recognize authority of the academy in agreeing, for the industry, to the producers' ultimatum to "cut pay or close the studios."

Instead, charges were hurled that the producers were "taking advantage of a bad situation to get out of contracts." It was further charged the producers had "packed" the writers' meeting in the hopes of

MILK WAR AROUND SALINAS LOOMING

SALINAS, Calif., March 9.—(UP)—Possibility of war along the San Francisco milk front flared today as dairymen of Salinas valley refused to change their contracts with the United Milk company, and threatened to stop any producers who attempted to deliver their milk.

Trouble between the producers and distributors arose when representatives of United Milk, which controls ninety per cent of the market milk in Salinas valley, announced they would have to reduce the price of butterfat from 63 to 51 cents. They said competition with other large distributors in San Francisco made the reduction necessary, and that new contracts would have to be drawn with producers.

Dairymen of Salinas valley, while expressing themselves as favoring cooperation if competition warrants lowered prices, decided not to break their old contracts. They appointed a committee to investigate the San Francisco situation, prevent hoarding and authorizing control over gold reserves in the United States.

3. Grant of authority for such control over all banks as may be necessary for the protection of both depositors and creditors and providing for prompt reorganization of non-liquid banks on a sound foundation of permanent liquidity.

ROOSEVELT ASKS POWER OF DICTATOR

Legislation Providing for Issuance of New Currency Given to Solons

SPEEDY ACTION SEEN

Reopening of Sound Banks Immediately Is Provided for; Others Delayed

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(UP)—President Roosevelt's drastic emergency banking bill was passed today by a house acting with war-time speed.

The measure, providing dictatorial banking powers for the president and allowing controlled expansion of the currency, was hurried through the house with cheers and applause after reading of Mr. Roosevelt's short, hard-hitting message on the national financial emergency.

There was no record vote.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(UP)—The senate adjourned at 2:20 p. m. until 4:30 p. m., expecting by that time to receive a favorable banking and currency committee report on the banking bill.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(UP)—Wide, almost dictatorial powers to open sound banks at once and others as rapidly as they get their affairs in shape, coupled with provision for sound expansion of the currency, was asked of congress by President Roosevelt in his first message today.

Emergency legislation was drafted to put the plan into effect at once.

Fulfilling his inaugural promise, President Roosevelt immediately after congress met in extraordinary session, sent a crisp, hard-hitting, 500-word message.

The administration's emergency bank program was ready for congressional action after a four-hour series of conferences between treasury officials, congressional banking authorities and some of the nation's leading bankers.

After a last-minute conference with Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, Senator Glass, Dem., Virginia, announced the bill had been written into a final form acceptable to Chairman Steagall of the house banking committee.

Bill Introduced

The little Virginian hurried to the waiting senate, and within five minutes the bill had been introduced by Chairman Fletcher of the senate banking and currency committee. It was immediately referred back to that committee by unanimous consent for a report as soon as possible back to the senate.

Roosevelt stripped his message of all decoration and struck direct at his two objects.

1. Immediate reopening of sound banks; reopening of others as fast as they get in shape by writing off bad holdings.

2. Immediate expansion of government money, backed by sound security. His provisions were interpreted as excluding mere printing press money.

"Our first task is to reopen sound banks," President Roosevelt said in his message.

He warned that later a permanent program to stop speculation with depositors' funds and other violations of trust would be pressed.

Legislation drafted to carry out the purpose of President Roosevelt's plan was waiting for lightning speed action in congress today.

It calls for:

1. Continuation of the gold embargo.

A—“Yes, right there,” pointing to Zangara.

Q—“How far were you and he from Roosevelt?”

A—“Thirty feet.”

Armour was cross examined by Lewis N. Twyman, chief of defense counsel.

Q—“Were you seated or standing?”

A—“Sitting on the same bench, but a woman was between us. I didn't notice him until the shooting. (The woman was Mrs. W. F. Cross, Miami, who grappled with the assassin, spilling his aim at the President-elect.)

Armour arose to re-enact the shooting, showing how Zangara stretched his arm above the crowd to shoot.

I caught his arm and pushed it upward, but he bent his wrist and continued shooting,” the witness said.

Zangara chuckled when Twyman asked Armour, “Why didn't you jump on him and stomp him down?”

Dixie Herlong, stenographer, told of the examination of Zangara after the shooting, and of his questioning by Sheriff Dan Hardesty.

At the examination, Miss Herlong said, Zangara talked freely, and there were no threats made.

During the testimony, the prisoner seemed far more interested in the telegraph instruments immediately behind him, than in the testimony which all believed would send him to the electric chair.

Accusing him of recklessness and carelessness in operation of an automobile, Mrs. Fannie M. Young, school teacher, has filed suit demanding judgment against Emil Moser for $10,250 for injuries received in an automobile accident February 19, 1933. The accident happened at the intersection of United States Highway 101 and Newport Road.

According to her complaint, Mrs. Young was a passenger in an automobile driven by James F. Young. Due to carelessness and recklessness on the part of Moser, according to the complaint, the two automobiles collided and she received cuts and bruises about the body and injuries to her feet which necessitated the use of crutches. She declared that she still is using crutches and will continue to use them for some time.

She is asking for $10,000 actual and $250 special damages to cover the cost of medical attention, employment of help in her home and time lost from her duties as a teacher.

HERE'S DIGEST OF BANKING LAWS ROOSEVELT PROPOSES

4. (a) Amend the federal reserve act to permit direct loans to corporations and to individuals on collateral of United States obligations.

(b) Extension of broad powers to the federal reserve banks to loan to members banks on sound assets not now eligible as collateral for such borrowing.

(c) Authorization for the federal reserve to issue federal reserve bank notes:

(1) Against obligations of the United States owned by federal reserve banks.

(2) Against notes of corporations, partnerships or individuals secured by United States government obligations.

(3) Against member bank notes secured by sound assets.

This program was interpreted in one well informed quarter as meaning that when banks are reopened only those 100 per cent solvent will be able immediately to open their doors and all others would be required to reorganize by writing down their assets to whatever lower level may be necessary to make the assets represent actual values.

It is understood that banks will be permitted to open under a licensing system and that without the federal license symbolic of liquidity no bank will be permitted to resume ordinary banking business.

Under those circumstances it was believed federal reserve members banks would be able to open first since their condition is intimately known to federal authorities.

WORK OF FARM VETERAN WILL GROUP TOLD AS CELEBRATE HIS 92ND BIRTHDAY

VILLA PARK, March 9.—Declaring that the county supervisors only have control of about 15 per cent of public expenditure of taxes, J. J. Deuel, manager of the law and utilities department of the California Farm Bureau federation, was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Foothill Farm center Wednesday evening.

Deuel outlined methods of the farm bureau in working for the benefit of its members in court proceedings and related how a reduction in power rates which totaled $650,000 had been gained, the same reduction being in effect each succeeding year. He stated that 27 cases had been tried in the interest of farmers last year.

Details of the cases and an account of “vacation” trips by United States senators, financed by the people, were related.

He declared that he favored some move to turn over to the county, tax delinquent property, as the county would make an effort to get delinquent property back on the tax books, which the state does not do. He said he believed the Riley plan would increase taxes on common property throughout the state, and that it would not even be desirable in good times. The speaker pointed out that a rate reduction is needed on transportation but that expense can't be piled on one end and reduction pulled off on the other.

One hundred and fifty people enjoyed the dinner served by P.-T.A. members, with Mrs. Charles O. Thomson as chairman of the committee. A quartet composed of Miss Ruby Armstrong, Violin; Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Elliott, banjo, and Miss Margaret Gregg, piano, played several numbers during the dinner. D. C. Dillingham, of Orange Union high school, accompanied by Miss Alice Compton, sang “Still as the Night” and “Music for Jack.” Mrs. W. C. Armstrong, accompanied by Miss Gregg, sang an Irish ballad, “In My Wild Mountain Valley” and “At Dawning.”

C. A. Palmer, president of the center, presided over the meeting and introduced the speakers. Other speakers in addition to Deuel were L. A. Bortz, Harold Wahlberg, Dian Gardner, Harold T. Brewer, Willard Smith, chairman of the county board of supervisors, Sheriff Logan Jackson, and Jack Crill.

OPPOSITION TO MOVE SALARY CUTS REVEALED

pushing through a resolution of concurrence in the wage cut.

The producers claimed they were forced into the pay cut through falling off in theater attendance and their inability to get money for the payrolls from New York banks.

The directors and the writers “approved in spirit” the emergency cut to keep the studios open, but voted as well to set up the emergency board to study problems facing the industry.

The directors went further, while morally supporting the cut, they unanimously agreed that their assistance to the producers in the emergency “should not take the form of a cut in salary, but should be in the form of a donation of four weeks salary.”

The actors have called a meeting for Monday at which time they will appoint a representative on the “war board,” and decide their course of action.

Neither the technicians nor the producers had called a meeting early today.

Meanwhile representatives of union labor were meeting with the producers. Union men, including cameramen, projectionists, sound engineers, carpenters and other craft, hold contracts with the studios and it was not learned if they would voluntarily abrogate these.

William Elliot, president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Motion Picture Projectionists, here from New York, represented the unions.

It was considered likely that whatever action was decided upon by the organized groups probably would also bind the technicians' branch of the academy, for it includes several of the union crafts in its membership.

While mass-meetings were held at practically every studio yesterday, and assurances were voiced that the emergency pay cut would be accepted cheerfully, representatives of both the actors and writers declared:

“There are 10,000 employees affected by this move. Some 2000 of us feel that the producers are attempting to put something over on us. Therefore, we've decided to look into the situation to see if it is as bad as the producers claim.”

“If it is merely a temporary shortage of funds, we won't stand for a cut, particularly among the $22 a week stenographers and office boys.”

“If it looks like a put-up job, we plan to call upon the producers themselves to tell us just how much they are earning individually. Perhaps the cuts should be more drastic at the top.”

The writers early today named Howard J. Green to represent them on the “war board,” with Oliver H. P. Garrett as alternate. Their advisory committee is composed of Dudley Nichols, James Creelman, Robert Prinsell, John Balderston, Robert Riskin, Ernest Valda, William Stevens, McNutt, Ralph Block and Bartlett Cormack.

William K. Howard was elected as the directors' representative.

DRASTIC BANK REFORM MOVE IS SUGGESTED

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, March 9.—(To the Editor of The Register.) It's surprising how little money we can get along on. Let the banks never open, let scrip never come. Just everybody keep on trusting everybody else. Why it's such a novelty to find that somebody will trust you that it's changed all our whole feeling toward human nature. Why never was our country so united, never was a country so tickled with their poverty. For three years we have had nothing but “America is fundamentally sound.” It should have been “America is fundamentally cuckoo.” The worse off we get the louder we laugh, which is a great thing. And every American international banker ought to have printed on his office door “Alive today by the grace of a nation that has a sense of humor.”

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

ROOSEVELT IN MESSAGE ASKS GREAT POWERS

2. Ratification of all power seized by the president in his Sunday midnight holiday proclamation.

3. Full grant of power to prevent hoarding.

4. Full control over all banks as far as necessary to protect depositors and creditors and for prompt reorganization of frozen banks.

5. Amendment of the federal reserve act to permit direct loans to corporations and individuals on government bonds.

6. Broadest powers to the federal reserve banks to loan to member banks on sound collateral. This is the blanket provision under which the vast expansion of currency will be possible. Federal reserve banks now accept only collateral maturing within 90 days. Long time paper, no matter how good intrinsically, is barred.

This emergency program was urged ahead of everything else in the brief 500 word message from Roosevelt one of the shortest ever sent on a major matter.

“I cannot too strongly urge upon the congress the clear necessity for immediate action,” President Roosevelt said.

His message was terse. Sentences were short and stripped of all decoration. Each phrase headed straight at its objective.

He did not pause to describe the causes leading up to the dramatic proclamation issued Sunday midnight to protect depositors and the nation's business.

Reopen Sound Banks

“Our first task is to reopen all sound banks,” the president said. This is an essential preliminary to subsequent legislation directed against speculation with the funds of the depositors and other violations of positions of trust.

President Roosevelt omitted all details from his message, desiring to strike broad and heavy blows at his objective.

He dealt with the additional currency plan in one lone sentence:

“I ask amendments to the federal reserve act to provide for such additional currency, adequately secured, as it may become necessary to issue to meet all demands for currency and at the same time to achieve this end without increasing the unsecured indebtedness of the government of the United States.”

This was construed as a warning against mere printing press money. Extreme inflationists had proposed printing paper money which would merely bear a promise to pay. President Roosevelt apparently intends to insist that every single federal reserve note issued shall be put out on the strength of collateral—gold backing, government bonds, some form of commercial paper, real estate mortgages or bonds.

Throughout the life of the federal reserve act, federal reserve notes have been based on short term commercial paper and gold backing. Proposed legislation will make long term notes available.

WORK ON NEW BUILDING MAY START SOON

The bank holiday has caused a delay in starting construction work on the Montgomery-Ward company three-story store building, to be located at Fourth and Main streets. However, Therman Means, local contractor who was awarded the contract for construction of the building, announced today that if there are no new developments in the situation in the next few days, construction work will be started the first of next week.

The contract awarded to Means by Mrs. Emma L. French, owner of the property where the building will be erected, amounted to a little more than $70,000, it was learned today. With an additional $10,000 to be spent by Mrs. French, the building will cost more than $80,000.

BEAUTIFICATION OF GROUNDS BEGUN BY S. A. JOBLESS

A program of beautification on the grounds of the Santa Ana Unemployed headquarters at Tenth and Main streets was well under way today, with a group of men engaged in planting flowers, shrubs and a lawn in front of the building.

Wild flowers which were sown in the vacant lot to the north of the building are now beginning to bloom. Hedges are being planted around the lawns and other improvements are being made on the grounds.

Charles Seiber, president of the association, today issued an appeal for the donation of any flowers or shrubs which can be used in the improvement program. He is particularly desirous of obtaining rose bushes.

Cleanup Example Set By Chamber

Redecoration and a general cleanup of the chamber of commerce offices in the courthouse annex were nearly completed today after two days of activity.

The interior of the offices was re-tinted, curtains were cleaned, floors refinished, woodwork cleaned and awnings repaired.

The entire office force, including Secretary George Raymer, who labored with his shirt-sleeves rolled up, aided in the renovation work.

An automobile owned by J. W. Beach, of 409 North Broadway, was reported stolen from a street in Orange early yesterday afternoon.

Donald Hetrick, 32, movie worker, of Orange, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police B. F. Richard and Constable George Bartley, of Orange. He was lodged in the county jail, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

James Wesley Lowrey, 25, of 63 Riverside street, Long Beach, was lodged in the county jail last night, booked for non support of a minor child. He was brought in by Constable William Tremaine, of Brea.

16 SURVIVORS OF 1ST ROUND CARD TOURNEY

When the cigarette smoke had cleared from the scene of bridge battle at the Green Cat cafe last night, 16 survivors raised heads bloodily but unbowed. To welcome the respite from a contract conflict that will end with decisive engagements this week and next on the same grounds, the skirmish, which raged until 12:30 a. m., represented the first round in the Santa Ana Duplicate Contract Bridge Pair tournament, in which half a hundred were entered.

Awards for exceptional valor went to Mrs. Grace Helm and Frank D. Hevener of Laguna Beach, with a score of plus $220, and to John Newcomer and Robert Standen of Santa Ana, with a score of plus $60, who headed the North-South and East-West contingents, respectively, at the close of combat. Distinguished service, credited to 12 others, will entitle the following to continue the argument in the quarter-final sortie: North-South—Mr. and Mrs. Maurice McMillan, Laguna Beach, plus $380; Claud Brown, Laguna Beach, plus $120; Mrs. Elizabeth Pierce, Mrs. Martha D'Anna, Laguna Beach, plus $300; East-West—Vernon F. Rush, Edmond Gregory, Santa Ana, plus $100; Mrs. B. J. McMullen, Mrs. Sarah J. Haddon, Santa Ana, plus $50; Mrs. Elsie Skinner, Mrs. Hannah Harding, Anaheim, minus $710.

In the event, now probable, that Laguna Beach winners forfeit their positions out of courtesy to a new list of quarter-finalists will be drawn on this basis, H. G. Serene, chairman, said today. Serene pointed out that all scores issued today were subject to correction. Quarter-finals will be held this week and semi-finals and finals are scheduled for next week. A second pair tournament will be staged for amateurs next Wednesday night, it was disclosed. The contest will occupy a single evening and will bring prizes to leading East-West and North-South contenders.

Other Scores
Eye-witnesses at last night's battle, who watched from afar or "near," according to the temperament of their favorites, were denied anything remotely resembling gore. Restricted as they were to a few scraps of pasted board and soft lead pencils, competitors found their strongest weapon in a telling thrust of the eye, and their sweetest triumph in a row of unintelligible Arabic numerals. The longest and blackest and largest and shapeliest numerals, according to Vernon F. Rush and Ralph A. Frost, keepers of the rules, will determine the victorious team when the books are closed.

Complete scores were issued tentatively today as follows, with those above mentioned excepted: North-South—Edmond Gregory, Mrs. Ted Fulkerson, Santa Ana, plus $130; Mrs. M. D. Borgmeyer, Mrs. Howard Timmons, Santa Ana, plus $110; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tawney, Laguna Beach, plus $180; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Emlison, Santa Ana, plus $170; Elizabeth Pharaoh, Charlotte Frost, Laguna Beach, plus $90; Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Dow, Laguna Beach, plus $10; Hal Forrest, Laguna Beach, Clarence Reed, Newport Beach, minus $10; Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Decker, Santa Ana, minus $230.

East-West scores: Barbara Pierce, Arthur Deupree, Laguna Beach, minus $280; Lew Wallace, Lester Isbell, Newport Beach, minus $600; Mrs. Leland Finley, Dick Ewert, Santa Ana, minus $180; H. G. Serene, Mrs. Will Flood, Santa Ana, minus $120; Roy Helm, Mrs. Frank Hevener, Laguna Beach, minus $600; Art Bliss, John Golden, Santa Ana, minus $290; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Parker, Santa Ana, minus $280; Howard Timmons, H. T. Dunning, Santa Ana, minus $400.

MERCHANTS PLAN BUYING JUBILEE

Plans for a big pre-Easter buying jubilee, to be staged by the Santa Ana Merchants association sometime this month, will be discussed at a meeting of the organization tomorrow noon in James cafe, it was announced today by A. Cavalli, manager of the association.

Other matters of considerable importance to merchants and business men of Santa Ana will be discussed at the meeting, according to Walter Swanberger, president.

Credit Arranged For Club Event

SANTA ANA SAFETY COUNCIL TO BE ORGANIZED; WILL GIVE PRIZES TO COUNTY STUDENTS

Citing national statistics to show the terrific toll of deaths and serious injuries taken by automobiles in accidents during the past year, H. Dauchey, assistant manager of Casualty lines, branch office The Travelers, of Los Angeles, was the featured speaker at Kiwanis club meeting yesterday afternoon in Ketter's cafe.

He was introduced by R. G. Cartwright, chairman of the local committee in charge of the National Safety contest, in which Santa Ana is participating this year.

Cartwright announced that six prizes would be awarded at the end of the year to school students in the county who had the best ideas on safety work. Chief of Police Floyd Howard, he said, will call a meeting of representatives of all service clubs, the P-T-A, and Boy Scouts to form a safety council to carry on safety work.

Makes Comparison
Dauchey compared traffic accidents with the cause of the national economic situation. He said speed and the utter disregard for the rights of others was responsible for both accidents and the economic situation. He said the speaker cited many statistics to show what a death-dealing weapon the automobile has become. Most of the accidents, he said, were caused from high speed and being on the wrong side of the road and disregarding the right of way.

Nearly 30 per cent of drivers involved in accidents during the past year were not owners of the cars in the crashes, he said, and 72 per cent of the drivers were relatives of owners.

Death Toll Amazing
He pointed out that during the past 15 years a total of 325,000 have been killed in the nation in accidents, while but 300,000 were killed in all combined wars in which the United States has had a part.

"Slow down to save money," he said, in calling attention to the fact that a car uses a third less gasoline at 30 miles an hour than at 60 miles per hour. Tires wear twice as long at 35 miles an hour than 60 miles an hour, he said. Death dealing days are Sundays and Saturdays, he asserted, while Tuesday has been shown to be the day when fewest accidents occur.

The speaker said rates for insurance would be reduced materially and in proportion to the decrease of accidents, if safety work resulted in the decrease of accidents.

Entertainment for the meeting was provided by the Kiwanis double quartet, which sang several numbers, accompanied at the piano by Art Cannon.

FRANCES M. ELLIS CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Frances M. Ellis, 78, a resident of Santa Ana since 1917 when she moved here from Kansas, died at her home, 602 South Birch street, today following an illness of but few days duration. She was member of the local Order of Eastern Star and also belonged to the Past Matrons association.

She was the wife of C. W. Ellis and mother of Fred R. Ellis of Ardmore, Oklahoma, Mrs. Roy H. Hall, Mrs. C. R. Couden and Mrs. L. P. Landis of Santa Ana. Notice of funeral services will be given later by the Smith and Tutthill Funeral home.

Government Seeks Patricia Loughran To Make Payment

It is rather unusual these days to be searching for someone to give them money, but such is the situation which developed here today when Harry Edwards, in charge of the Veterans' Welfare bureau, announced that a search is in progress for Patricia D. Loughran, a minor.

The girl has money coming, the amount of which was not made known, from the government, Edwards said. The child is in the custody of her grandmother, Mrs. Kate Walmire. She is the daughter of Ross V. Loughran.

The last known address was Santa Ana, general delivery, recorded in November, 1931. Any person knowing where the family is now located was asked to communicate with Edwards in the courthouse annex.

S. A. INSURANCE OFFICE RANKS CLOSE TO TOP

An excellent business year in the Santa Ana district of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company aided in making the income for the company in 1932 the largest in the company history, according to the annual report received here by Archie W. Robinson, manager of the Santa Ana district.

The Pacific Coast territory led the entire United States and Canada in production and all-around record. Santa Ana was sixth on the coast and twenty-fifth in the entire area, with $2,000,000 in new insurance last year through the local office.

The local district office has 17 agents, two assistant managers and three clerks, all local men with families. The local payroll is $1200 a week. Assistant Manager Glen Sturgis has been invited to attend a New York convention in May as a result of last year's record.

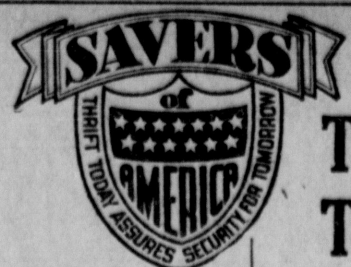

The new year is starting out well for the local district, Manager Robinson said, and another banner year is expected.

Life insurance issued revived and increased in 1932 amounted to more than three and a quarter billion dollars. During the year the company paid to policyholders $562,804,650.79; added to policy reserves $109,755,306; set aside for dividends to policyholders in 1932 $101,685,956 and increased its contingency reserve by $26,550,000 and increased its surplus by $13,541,501.95.

NAVEL SHIPPERS IN CONFERENCE FRIDAY

Packing house managers of navel orange shipping districts are to hold a conference in San Bernardino tomorrow relative to 90 per cent control of the navel crop in order to keep low grade fruit off the market.

At a meeting held in the gate city Tuesday, it was reported that the organization still lacked enough signatures to make the plan effective, though the larger shippers, including the California Fruit Growers' exchange, Mutual Orange Distributors, Gold Banner association, American Fruit Growers and others had signed.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

FIRST LADY

Mrs. Roosevelt has more to do with things than you've heard. The president consults her at least once a day, and sometimes often.

She gets a tremendous amount of mail. Right now she is trying to answer 3000 letters that have piled up on her. She answers all letters, those knocking as well as booting. With the exception that she won't answer those with a political tinge. She wrote some during the campaign, the recipients published them and her husband was embarrassed.

Everybody around the Roosevelt is fond of the First Lady. She sees the girl reporters whenever they want to see her. They, in turn, do anything she asks.

For that reason you probably will find that all domestic news from the White House will be favorable.

HOWE

Col. Louis McHenry Howe, the president's confidential secretary, has to pay a price for his close association with "Franklin," as he calls his chief. Roosevelt taunts him unmercifully. He is still raging him about the new suit he bought for his triumphal descent on Washington.

Mr. Ickes got his job by asking for it.

The Secretary of the Interior has no idea that he might rate such an appointment. He was very ambitious about Washington affairs of state. He came to see his good friend Prof. Berle of Columbia. The professor suggested he might fit into Mr. Roosevelt's Cabinet picture.

Nothing daunted, Mr. Ickes went to see Mrs. Roosevelt. He knew the right people and talked the right things, and coming from the Middle West, where Mr. Roosevelt was casting for a secretary, the new Chief Executive said, in effect, "Why don't you speak for yourself?"

COPS
Mr. Roosevelt is still chuckling over the misadventure of Francis M. Stephenson, the A. P. reporter who covers him.

"Steve," who is small but high powered, was waylaid by Miami policemen and arrested as an accomplice of Zangara, the Miami assassin.

He, like the other reporters in the Roosevelt party, were on the special train writing their stories when the shooting took place. Hearing about it, "Steve" started on a run up the railroad tracks to give his office a flash.

Two Miami cops tackled him, and soon a vast crowd had gathered around. Ultimately the reporter persuaded the cops to look at his credentials.

SKILL
Roosevelt has his own way of handling newspaper correspondents.

George Van Slyke of the New York Sun, a keen reporter, occasionally writes pieces which Mr. Roosevelt thinks are not altogether friendly.

Roosevelt hits back by addressing Van Slyke as "Old George," a sobriquet which does not suit the Sun man at all. He is not young, but neither is he old.

SAFETY
Secret Service men won't attempt to deter Roosevelt if he decides to fly.

As a matter of fact, in view of the Miami affair, they probably would rather have him in the air than on the ground.

GERMANY
If you think Hitler isn't in earnest you probably have neither relatives nor friends in Deutschland.

Complete arrangements were made to hold the election under Terror conditions. Literally thousands of opposition leaders—big and little—were jailed. Seven thousands was the figure accepted here March 4.

A great New York newspaper had an important dispatch held up nine hours. The Hitler censorship will be watched closely for overt acts.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

TEAMWORK
If the banking situation didn't accomplish anything else it at least produced a measure of teamwork between New York and Chicago Federal Reserve Banks. Last week the Chicago Bank bought $97,000,000 worth of government bonds while the New York Bank was selling $105,000,000. The Boston Bank took up the rest.

This gesture of cooperation helped New York to keep liquid and meet demands from all parts of the country while it also helped strengthen Chicago's reserves.

There was a victory for both sides in this action. Chicago finally did what New York has been urging it to do. But Chicago is not unaware that its assistance was valuable to New York and maintains that it could not have acted so energetically if it had been buying governments earlier.

part of certain corporations—specially utilities. They do not believe his successor will be so doctrinaire in the matter of strict enforcement of corporation laws.

CUMMINGS
New York remembers Homer Cummings best for an incident of the 1924 convention. Cummings was chairman of the Committee of Resolutions which staged a bitter private war on a proposition to condemn the Ku Klux Klan. Cummings was the only member of the Committee to emerge from the battle cool, unruffled and still on speaking terms with both sides.

His friends say he has never been known to get excited about anything.

Cummings was a member of the Roosevelt pre-convention inner circle and his advice was highly regarded. His pinch-hitting act will probably not be so brief as current reports make out. You will not go astray if you believe he was in reserve from the first had Senator Walsh declined.

MORGENTHAU
The appointment of Henry Morgenthau Jr. to head the enlarged Farm Board was warmly approved here. New York is cordially in favor of the plan to abandon stabilization activities. The speculative commodity markets gave him a rousing sendoff. He is expected to make a real name for himself in the job. Like F. D. R. he smiles but can hit hard.

MORTGAGES
The plan to form a cooperative corporation to relieve the mortgage guarantee companies has struck another snag but the chances are still good that the Marines will arrive in time. Meanwhile individual mortgage companies are feeling out their bondholders on a reduction-of-interest proposition and seem to be getting somewhere.

Legislative Sidelights

BY UNITED PRESS

SACRAMENTO, March 9.—(UP)—Slim pocketbooks rather than mistrust impelled the assembly to refuse to lift a call on the house during the utility tax equalization fight. A few affluent members proposed a "gentlemen's agreement" in which the members would pledge themselves to return at 3 p.m. But that morning a bank holiday had been declared and many assemblymen were low on cash. So they insisted on locking themselves up and calling on the state to furnish a free lunch.

H. C. "Skipper" Nelson, ex-state senator of Eureka, was unmercifully kidded by former colleagues during the tax utility equalization fight. The affable Nelson was an ardent anti-utility leader in the stormy days of the King bill tax fight of 1921. He appeared before a joint committee hearing but this time the "shoe was on the other foot." He represented the Pacific Gas and Electric company. Nelson good humoredly maintained his position was not inconsistent.

"I favor," said Senator Edgar Stow, Santa Barbara, "the introduction of a bill legalizing bull fighting in California. 'You can't fix a bull, you know.'"

Some of the yarns they tell of how A. A. Brock, new director of the department of agriculture, is "cleaning house" are classics. Brock called in a certain department employee whose swivel chair duties were not very exacting. "Good morning, Mr. —," Brock said affably, the while smiling brightly and warmly clasping the man's hand. "I have a little favor to ask. Would you mind handing in your resignation effective today?"

The employee answered, "Yes, I think I would mind." Brock shrugged his shoulders. "Very well," he observed, "consider yourself fired."

Two newspapermen, members of the legislature, established a record for the small number of bills introduced under their names during the first session. Assemblyman Ford A. Chatters, publisher of the Lindsay Gazette introduced nine measures in the assembly and Senator Charles H. Deuel, publisher of the Chico Record offered eight to the senate.

In some ways, Governor Rolph appears to be cautious almost to a fault. In the middle of ceremonies attending the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge bid opening, the florid faced chief executive halted proceedings and demanded a stenographer to take down every word of the proceedings. "I don't want to take chances on this bid opening being declared illegal," he announced. The program stopped dead, while attaches scurried hither and yon until they located a stenographer.

DONS IN FIRST DUAL MEET

Night Leaguers In Rules Meet

SCHEDULE MAY BE DRAWN FOR PENNANT RACE

Regulations to govern play in the National Night Baseball league this summer will be drafted at a dinner-meeting of managers at Westminster tonight, at 6:45.

Described by no less an authority than President George Peterkin as the most important of the year, the gathering of representatives from ten cities is for the purpose of deciding the following paramount recommendations:

- (1) Reduce to 15 cents the price of admission at all parks;
- (2) Admit free all boys and girls 14 or under, provided they obey all state and school safety laws;
- (3) Readjust the division of play-off receipts—30-20-10 among the first, three clubs 7-1-2 per cent to the next two, and 5 per cent to all the others regardless of how they finish;
- (4) Reduce to $3 remuneration to umpires;
- (5) Reduce to 15 the player limit;
- (6) Recognize trades between clubs;
- (7) Enforce strictly all pitching rules as they pertain to "parallel delivery";
- (8) Consider sponsoring a juvenile league;
- (9) Consider playing three games weekly, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

President Peterkin has asked the ten franchise applicants—Santa Ana, Anaheim, Orange, Fullerton, Huntington Beach, Westminster, Long Beach, Torrance and Westminster—to state definitely tonight whether they will toe the starting line. It is understood that the league will insist on an even number of teams, so if one city fails to muster courage for the season the number of starters will be eight rather than nine.

An outside possibility exists that a playing schedule will be drawn, and it is certain that a starting date will be set.

RUTH, WEIGHT 232, JOINS YANKEE CAMP

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 9.—(UP)—Babe Ruth, 39 years old and weighing 232 pounds, has started training for his 14th season with the New York Yankees and his 20th in the major leagues.

The famous batting king stole the show completely when the Yankees' second squad turned out for its first practice at Miller Huggins Memorial field.

More than 700 persons gathered at the field, whereas the Yankees previously have been attracting 150 each day. The Babe responded good naturedly to the auto-graph-hunters and handshakers.

With characteristic nonchalance, he posed for the sound cameras and the newspaper photographers.

He received an ovation when he stepped out on to the field in woolen sweat shirt and striped baseball pants.

Ruth is still unsigned, and insists he will remain that way until the Yankees raise their offer of $50,000 for the season.

ILLINOIS LAW BARS DEMPSEY AND HIS FIGHT

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, March 9.—(INS)—It seems that John Dempsey, the rising young promoter, is about to return to these parts today from Chicago, suffering with bruises and contusions of the instep and his shoes worn down to spats from standing too steadily in one spot while a good old-fashioned run-around was in progress.

Mr. Dempsey is represented as being greatly distressed by what has taken place and his faith in human nature is somewhat strained. He was led to believe that he could put on the Schmeling-Baer fight in Chicago as a non-resident promoter and it now appears that this was a slight or maybe technical misunderstanding. There's only one thing wrong with it, in fact. He can't put the fight on as a non-resident member.

At least Mr. Packey McFarland, the ex-lightweight, says he can't and he ought to know. He is a newly-appointed member of the Illinois boxing commission, which dispenses justice to this haphazard and comical profession. So is Mr. Joe Triner, the chairman, and that's not the only thing they have in common. They see eye to eye; they stand four-square and jowl to jowl. One might even infer that they approve of each other.

Mr. Dempsey's friend is George Getz, the third member of the commission. He is a nice man and very kind to dumb animals but I notice that a third member of any boxing commission is loathe to be pretty much like a third foot. Anyhow, neither has a leg to stand on.

The point is that the Illinois law requires legal residence of its promoters; so if Mr. Dempsey wishes to operate, he must declare one of the boys in as front man.

Of course, there's Mr. Getz himself. He's a resident promoter. He put on the Tunney-Dempsey fight. He even did it the hard way—by remote control. His name was on the billing. The tickets bore his signature. The banks honored his endorsement. But I think the Illinois law requires its boxing commissioners not to be promoters.

In a documentary sense, Mr. Getz got all the credit. However, there was a Mr. Rickard who seemed to be doing things in connection with the fight. In fact, unless both us were mistaken, he got all the money.

Naturally, after all of this, I'm somewhat alarmed to learn by the papers that Mr. Dempsey is endeavoring to reach a decision on the site for his Schmeling-Baer prize fight. If he hasn't reached it by this time, he never will.

Every position, from catcher to right field, is wide open on the present Saint roster, and Santa Ana's returning candidates—Floyd Montgomery, Conrad, Bob Williams, Jim Klepper and Fred Southworth—may appear at any post during Coach Foote's experiments.

Willie Jones, colored lad from Willard, will hold down first base; Wimbush, second; Paul Bingle or Harry Baago, shortstop; and Conrad, third. A regular second baseman last season, Conrad has been shifted to the "hot" corner to replace Captain Allen Kidder, and Wimbush has been placed at second, where he will vie with Bob Wilde. When Conrad goes to the mound, Klepper probably will operate at third.

Montgomery, who alternated at first and right field in '32, will be stationed in center against Long Beach, with Willard Noe in right, and either Ernie Acker or Southworth in left. Carl Schultz also will see action in the Saint outfield.

NO VACATIONS

There's no off-season for Ernest Quigley of Topeka, Kas., below. He's a major league baseball umpire. When the ball season is over Quigley officiates at important football games among them the Harvard-Yale classic. When football wanes, he goes to work as basketball referee.

HIS BASEBALL TEAM TO FACE WILSON FRIDAY

Long Beach Woodrow Wilson's baseball team, recently defeated twice by Fullerton in 8-1 and 9-6 contests, invades Poly field tomorrow afternoon for a practice game with Santa Ana high school at 3 o'clock.

Coach Bill Foote's Saints will be shifted from one position to another against the visitors to determine a regular Santa Ana lineup for the Coast Preparatory league race which begins three weeks from tomorrow.

Pitcher Gordon Mallett, transfer from Huntington Beach, and Catcher Jesse Ojeda, up from Francis Willard junior high school, will compose Santa Ana's battery against Wilson, but the Saint mentor has indicated that Francis Conrad, regular infielder, will do some of the hurling, with Al Halderman or "Red" McCullough handling him.

Every position, from catcher to right field, is wide open on the present Saint roster, and Santa Ana's returning candidates—Floyd Montgomery, Conrad, Bob Williams, Jim Klepper and Fred Southworth—may appear at any post during Coach Foote's experiments.

DANERI, BROOKS CHIEF HOPES LEAGUE OPENER

Embarking on what may bloom into its best track season, Santa Ana junior college's 1933 cinder-path team, coached by Bill Cook and captained by Jim Daneri, matches skill with San Bernardino, first Orange Empire conference opponent, in a dual meet at San Bernardino tomorrow, with the first of 15 events to be called at 4 o'clock.

Coach A. F. Schaefer's Indians, who barely lost to Santa Ana last season, 64-67, appear even stronger this year. Eight returning lettermen, their talent distributed in every event, are the main reasons why Santa Ana will have no more than an even chance. The inland collegians defeated San Bernardino high school, 68 to 36, in a practice meet Tuesday.

On paper, the Dons are good for first places in seven events—the 100, 220, high and low hurdles, discus, javelin and relay. San Bernardino is a slight favorite in all of the distances—440, 880, mile and two mile—the shot put and broad jump. The pole vault and high jump are strictly a tossup, it is believed.

Daneri in Five Events
Coach Cook is counting Daneri, one of the greatest javelin athletes in the state, to score heavily in the javelin, shot, broad jump, discus and hurdles, and expects Fred Brooks, hustling sophomore, to win the high hurdles, the 100-yard dash and to place in the 220 and high jump.

The high hurdles and 2-mile loom as two of the best races of the meet. Brooks and Art Fisher of San Bernardino will be featured in the hurdles, Bill Campbell of Santa Ana and Dick Sugars of San Bernardino in the eight-lap grind. Fisher travelled undefeated through dual meet competition last season, but lost to Brooks in the all-conference meet at Riverside, the Taft Relays, and at Modesto. Both have run 15 seconds flat. Sugars, a consistent two-miler, has had more experience than Campbell, and will be favored in this event.

Clem to Transfer
Harold Clem, high jumper, plans to withdraw from the Don institution to enter the University of Illinois, will compete at San Bernardino, since he automatically loses his freshman eligibility anyway. He will be joined in the Don-Indian meet by Martin Lorenzen and Ray Furuta of Santa Ana, and it is probable that Ellwood Lindley, who competed for Santa Ana two seasons ago, will be back in school and eligible for tomorrow's contest.

Lindley, who has done better than 6 feet, plans to enroll this week. Bill Bouldin and Mike Vidal in the sprints; Rhodes Finley, Jim Tawney, Don Clark, Harlan Traylor, Ben Slavin, Charles McFarland, Earl Motley and Frank Ronald in the distances; Raymond Hoar in the hurdles; and Toby Groenow, Leonard Lookhart, Bob Arundell, George Barry, Jack Fredricks, Alex Clark, Lynn Chamberlain, Zeno Shelley in the weight events are other Santa Ana representatives.

Major Goodsell, U.C.L.A. crew coach, smiles a broad smile while his Bruin oarsmen bend the spruce in preparation for the triangular regatta with California and Washington at Long Beach on April 15. ### HOOKS AND SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

Richard Wagner was the German who put a whole lot of fine music on paper. But my favorite among the Wagners was a Pittsburgh boy named Honus.

My Wagner could do everything with a ball but that the composer of music dramas could do with a motif. At least old Honus produced plenty of weird music for the pitchers, and though his grace out there at shortstop might not have been all the conductors asked for, his rhythm and timing were perfect. Honus was bowlegged and awkward but he always got the ball.

THE GREATEST
Now Honus, at an advanced age, is coming back to the baseball wars a scotch of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and if you don't think he can give a lot of those youngsters like Piet and Vaughan the inside dope on baseball sharps and flats, this scotch is to no purpose.

The rookies in the Pirate training camp at Paso Robles will be listening to the greatest shortstop, if not the greatest ball player of all time. They show me figures to prove that Cobb was a greater player, with more color and all, but he just simply was not the ball player that Honus Wagner was, so I've got you there. Cobb never was the outfielder that Wagner was the infielder. Okay, I win.

THEY OWE HIM
He gave away a great deal to the Pirates, and they could pay him a handsome pension the rest of his life and still be behind

BANKER TALKS ON INFLATION. SCRIP FOR CLUB

ORANGE, March 9.—Homer Chaney, assistant trust officer of the First National bank of Santa Ana, spoke to members of the 20-30 club last night on what might happen with the issuance of scrip or of the inflation of currency as a means of meeting the present situation in the United States.

Chaney stated that he believed that the issuance of currency would have but little effect on general price levels as at present there is twice as much currency in circulation as there was in 1926.

In the former period, Chaney said, there was between four and five billions of dollars in circulation and during the past year about eight billion has been circulated. The speaker said that he had hoped for an issuance of scrip on a large scale as the tendency of the public would be to get rid of this medium of exchange as soon as possible, thus causing a reaction resulting in increased activities in all lines of business. He stated that he also believed that this would result in restoring that intangible thing—human confidence.

The speaker traced the relations between currency and credits and pointed out that while at present there is an increase in currency, there is a corresponding decrease in credit, the latter being between 15 and 20 billions less than in 1929. Bank deposits have remained about the same in both periods with an increase in savings and a decrease in credit, he said.

The rapid circulation of money or credit is the factor which stimulates business conditions, the speaker declared, and if a dollar is circulated 100 times in a given period, it has a value of $100, but if it is circulated but 50 times it only has the value of $50.

Chaney suggested as a means of inflation of currency the change of value of the gold dollar. If this value were changed possibly from its present value of about 33.22 grains of gold to 15 or 18 grains, prices would gradually rise to meet this new value, since stocks would be replenished before the change and the subsequent rise in prices, with the result that more money would be put in circulation and currency given the needed stimulus, he declared.

The fact that in previous years ninety-five of the business exchange medium has been carried on through checking accounts and that this exchange medium has been decreased, is responsible the speaker said, for a greater demand on currency.

Walter Wacker, president, presided, and vocal solos were given by Howard Davis, who was accompanied by Mrs. Christine Lambert.

READ WHAT KNOX & STOUT HAVE TO SAY

We are back to our first and great love—MERCHANDISING—a partnership formed in April, 1901, our mutual interests have been continuous ever since and the greater part of this thirty-two years were devoted to some branch of the mercantile business, including Dry Goods—Clothing—Shoes—Hardware—Implements—Ford Cars and Tractors—and Real Estate.

In 1921-22 we built what was said to be the best Ford Agency building in the State of California at 420 East 4th St., 60x250 ft., two stories of solid concrete and steel, wonderfully well lighted and ventilated, but our good tenant, "George Dunton," was compelled to vacate, so here we are with the Mair Hardware stock of shelf goods; the S. Hill & Son plumbing and sheet metal works.

The old reliables, Bert Bell and Billy Paxton are in charge; Chas. Stewart and Al Laughlin, the plumbing; the affable R. W. Butler in charge of house sales and the minor repairs; and Jack Erskine, the sheet metal; which insures in intelligent, courteous service.

Realizing we are a little out of the beaten path, we are going to make it well worth your while to drive down to trade with us at 420 East 4th St. Easy parking on both 4th and 3rd streets.

Honor Awards To Be Given S. A. Girl Scouts Friday

INVITE PUBLIC TO EVENT AT CHURCH HALL

Eighteen Girl Scouts, members of Santa Ana Troop No. 1 under the leadership of Mrs. R. R. Russick, will receive second class honors at a Court of Awards demonstration to be held in the First Christian church educational building tomorrow night beginning at 7:30 o'clock, according to plans disclosed today by Mrs. Russick and her fellow supervisors.

The presentations will be made by Miss Vaal Stark of Ventura, regional director of the Big Tree region, and the exercises will be open to the public.

Special proficiency badges will be claimed as follows: Journalism, Ida Bergseter; housekeeping, Ruth Jane Mathews, Jean McAuley, Jean Russick, Irene Noble, Josephine Butler, Jane Nalle; athlete, Jean McAuley, Charlotte Mock.

In addition to these prizes, 16 girls will receive silver attendance stars for attending 90 per cent of Girl Scout meetings held during the past year. These include June Blodgett, Norma Daley, Lydia Elliott, Lucille Griggs, Mildred Kemmer, Margaret Gloeckner, Lura May Kent and Margaret Rutan.

Organized two years ago, Troop No. 1 has made extraordinary progress during the past year under Mrs. R. R. Russick, according to Scout officials. Since Christmas two other troops have been formed under the respective leadership of Mrs. R. C. Harris and Mrs. Rose Luz, the latter of St. Joseph's school. A total of 68 girls are now enrolled in the three troops and Troop No. 1 has a waiting list of half a hundred. Each of the other two troops also have a surplus of applicants. Mrs. Russick pointed out that organization of further troops was prevented only through lack of Girl Scout leaders.

Another Court of Awards, for those who qualified too late to receive badges at this ceremony, probably will be held in August, according to Mrs. Russick, who explained that the badges were based on tests in the several fields, conducted after a long period of practice had given the girls a working knowledge of their subjects. She declared Girl Scout work practical in aim.

6 MORE DAYS TO PAY INCOME TAX!

Babies cost money—but they help out on federal income tax!

Four hundred dollars deduction from taxable income is allowed for each child under 18, or other dependent who receives his or her "chief support" from the taxpayer. However, under the new law, dependency must be proved by months; thus, the parent of a baby born in June can claim deduction for only half the year, or $200.

The law does not require that dependents live in the taxpayer's home, but insists that the latter must actually be their "chief means of support."

Mrs. E. M. Dosier, Mrs. J. O. Arkley, Mrs. A. A. Schnitzer, Mrs. W. M. Harkness, Mrs. W. M. Adland, Mrs. S. S. Jackson, Mrs. Della Henderson, Mrs. Fred Andres, Mrs. S. R. Flits and Mrs. P. M. Magnusson.

INSTALL NEW TRUSTEE FOR WAR VETERANS

For the fifth consecutive meeting of the Spanish War Veterans of Calumppit camp, all the officers were in attendance at the regular meeting here this week.

Trustee-elect, Hanzan Moberly was installed by Past Commander Robert Keyes, of Long Beach camp No. 14, with Past Commander H. G. Miller as master of ceremonies, and thereby assumed the duties of trustee for the unexpired term of Past Commander J. C. Farrar, deceased.

A letter was read from camps in the Santa Monica Bay district, thanking the Calumppit Drum corps for their participation in the recent visit to Old Ironsides by furnishing martial music similar to that used when that historic vessel was the pride of the United States Navy.

Commander Sherman Glaze announced, as the committee for the monthly pot luck dinner, Charles E. Chatlain, Charles E. Cook, Charles E. Camm and Frank W. Chapman. The dinner will be given on March 28 at the Knights of Columbus hall and will be strictly a camp and auxiliary affair.

Past Commander Robert Keyes, of Long Beach, addressed the camp, on the subject of the next National Encampment.

Comrade T. J. Aldrich, of Hollywood Camp No. 83, was present as a visitor and made a few brief remarks.

Shivering causes contraction of the muscles and, like exercise, it can increase the appetite.

Four Hostesses Join in Complimenting Honor Guests

Mrs. Lloyd Acood of Orange and Mrs. William Hemmen of Santa Ana shared honors at a beautifully appointed dinner given Tuesday evening in the hospitable home of Mrs. Frederick W. Dean, 2429 Heliotrope drive, where Mrs. Harry S. Harlow, Mrs. Kenneth A. King and Mrs. E. U. Farmer joined Mrs. Dean in entertaining.

Members of the hostess group enhanced their costumes with pretty corsage bouquets. They had achieved an effective setting for the occasion by using quantities of pink and white sweet peas, large baskets of stocks, snapdragons and other flowers throughout the rooms of the home.

Interest centered in the dining room, where a lace-covered table was decorated with a stately stork standing at the edge of a mirror. Pink ribbons led to a beautiful candelabra holding tall pink tapers. Pink rose petals were strewn over the table.

To open the evening's entertainment, Mrs. Ralph Walcott of Anaheim sang a lovely lullaby. Appropriate games were played, with Mrs. Charles Spurrer winning high and Mrs. Walcott second high. In a baby photograph contest, Mrs. E. L. Purvis won first place.

In serving delicious refreshments, hostesses spread tables with dainty linens, using tuile tied crystal baskets of sweet peas as centerpieces. The menu conformed to a pink and white theme.

At this time, Mrs. Acood and Mrs. Hemmen each received a doll carriage laden with daintily wrapped gifts. Mrs. King read a humorous story of the occasion, which guests helped to compile. In conclusion, Mrs. Walcott delighted all with another lullaby.

Guests were Mesdames Lloyd Acood, William Hemmen, Earl Freeman, Burton Hazen, C. A. Harp, George Huffman, W. Johnson, George Lippincott, R. L. Martin, M. D. Murphy, Leslie Pearson, E. L. Purvis, W. J. Richardson, Alvin Rohrs, J. C. James, C. A. Spurrier, John J. Vernon, Oral Whisenand, W. M. Young, E. W. Ashland, Roy Boyd, Harry Pink, C. E. Hayes, Fred Sanford, Fred Walcott and the hostesses, Mesdames Dean, Harlow, King and Farmer.

County Shriners Plan Inaugural Fete With Wives as Guests

When the newly elected officers of Orange County Shrine club assume the responsibilities and duties of their respective offices on Wednesday night, March 15, the occasion will be seized by the club as an opportunity for friendly hospitality to wives of members, who are to be entertained at dancing and cards in the Orange Women's clubhouse.

Memories of the delightful hospitality extended by the county Shriners on previous occasions are enhancing the interest with which the committee is awaited, and to make the party doubly enjoyable the hosts have informed their wives that they will be privileged to invite an additional guest couple apiece, to share in the evening's gaiety.

Special guests will be the potentate and the recorder of Al Malakiah temple, Los Angeles, who will be accompanied by their wives and perhaps other members of Al Malakiah Shrine of which the Orange County club is an element. Charles Coran, new president, and L. B. Armstrong, vice president and secretary, will be responsible for the reception and entertainment of the expected Los Angeles guests, and assistance in this hospitality will be lent by a group of Shrine wives suggested by the social committee as hostesses for the evening. Mrs. A. G. Flagg, Mrs. Carl Mock and Mrs. Otto Hann.

It has been suggested that all local and visiting Shriners should wear their fezzes so that guests will be certain of their hosts on an auspicious occasion planned, according to the Shriners, to celebrate the dawning of better times.

The evening's festivities will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock, with an excellent orchestra promised for the dancers, and card tables for those who wish to play contract or auction bridge. Shriners John Kettler and J. O. Pyle are planning attractive decorations for the event.

Medical Auxiliary Has Interesting Session at State School

One of the most interesting sessions which members of the Women's auxiliary to the Orange County Medical association have shared this year, occurred Tuesday afternoon when the entire auxiliary was entertained at Whittier State school, and taken on a comprehensive tour of the large school plant. Dr. George Sabich, superintendent, was unable to be present, but Mrs. Sabich joined with the assistant superintendent, Mr. Barton, and the Rev. Milton Lutz, in receiving the physicians' wives and showing them over the grounds with their attractive cottages, the well equipped modern hospital, school rooms and shops. They were impressed by the attractive cottages, each presided over by a house father and mother, and in one of which, the guests were entertained by the school band.

They learned that the 315 boys at the school each give half of each day to classroom instruction, and half to school industries including maintenance of buildings, and the cultivation of the 220 acres of the school holdings. They heard also of the vocational and religious training, music and recreational activities, as well as the concerts, picture shows and athletic events planned for the boys.

The Whittier plan was described as incorporating medical diagnosis, individual moral counseling and psychological and psychiatric study of each individual boy and his conflicts.

Following the tour of the school, was a delightful tea hour in Mrs. Sabich's home, with Mrs. F. E. Coulter and Mrs. R. A. Cushman assisting. At a short business session, plans were made for a luncheon in April, to honor Mrs. Coulter, state auxiliary president.

Co-hostesses Welcome Mayflower Members for Afternoon

It was a pleasant afternoon which Mayflower club members spent Tuesday with Mrs. R. E. Smith and Mrs. J. W. Parkinson in the home of the former, 802 East Sixth street.

Contributing to this pleasure were the many flowers employed by the co-hostesses in decorating the home, an interesting business session conducted by the club president, Mrs. A. C. Wiebe, and the subsequent interval devoted to needlework and informal chat. This was climaxed by the serving of refreshments for which Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Parkinson brought tables into use, spreading each one with attractive linens and using artistic clusters of spring flowers as centerpieces. A dessert course was served.

Mayflower club members present included Mesdames William Lawrence, Beatrice Zable, Henry W. Helmer, V. C. Shidler, A. C. Wiebe, Ray Ford, Laura Sanborn, P. Isherwood, Edward Cochems and her little granddaughter, Audrey Harrell, and the two hostesses, Mrs. Parkinson and Mrs. Smith.

Little Lad's Birthday Occasions Pleasant Afternoon Party

Master Donnie Walker's sixth birthday will be remembered very happily by that young man, as the March date this year brought the first birthday party which he has ever been privileged to hold, a merry event planned by his mother, Mrs. Don F. Walker, and given in their home at 1405 West Second street.

The little lad was privileged to invite his playmates to spend the afternoon, and Mrs. Walker used sweet peas and marigolds in decorating for the occasion. The children enjoyed a series of lively games, varied by play with their young host's toys. Of course the birthday boy was of outstanding interest when all the youthful guests were invited to the dining room.

Mrs. Walker, assisted by her sister, Mrs. V. A. McKinzie, had arranged the table in green and pink, with garlands in the two colors, swaying from the chandelier to rosettes in pink and green at the four corners of the table. The big angelfood birthday cake with its six pink candles, had been baked by Mrs. McKinzie for her small nephew, and was served with ice cream.

Relatives Guests at Birthday Dinner

A birthday dinner in which participated a large group of relatives was that given in the C. C. Schultz home at 719 East Fifth street Saturday when Mr. Schultz was host at dinner for his immediate relatives.

Tables bore attractive appointments of sweet peas, and members of the party were served a fine birthday menu of which turkey was the piece de resistance. Fellow celebrants extending their congratulations to C. C. Schultz were Mr. and Mrs. George Peckham and children, Margaret, Bob and George; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schultz and children, Phyllis and Charles, all of Terrence, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Roberts and children, Malcolm, Carolyn and Clinton of Santa Ana.

A. A. U. W. Branch Looks For Large Patronage At Annual Banquet

The International Relations banquet, annual highlight of university women's programs since the organization of the Orange county branch of the American Association of University Women, will be attended this year by members and guests rivaling in number those of past occasions, according to reservations held by Mrs. Charles C. Brisco, president. Last minute places still may be reserved by advising Mrs. Brisco, telephone 1123-W, she has announced. The banquet is scheduled for Tuesday night at 6:15 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A.

Relatives and friends of university women who are interested in specifically in current international activity or who are desirous of increased understanding regarding problems common to more than one country, are invited to take advantage of this opportunity to hear Dr. Graham C. Hunter, of Fullerton, former member of a Sherwood Eddy European expedition, when he addressed the annual banquet. Dr. Hunter was procured as speaker by Mrs. Edith Thatcher, international relations chairman for the branch.

Banquet arrangements will be superintended by a group of Girl Reserves under the direction of Mrs. C. E. Downie and of Miss Beulah Purkey, chairman. Their assistants, announced by Miss Lucille Robinson, Girl Reserve head, will include the Misses Ruth Clark, Kathryn Lamore and Clara Spelman. On the kitchen committee will be the Misses Mary Paxton, Jean Paxton and Jean Mulbar. Dining room assistants are to include the Misses Mary Jane Belcher, Muriel Snyder, Elva Young, Anita Stewart and Patricia Collins. Cooperation also will be offered by Miss Nancy Elder, Y. W. C. A. secretary, who is also affiliated with the A. A. U. W. branch.

Mrs. Thatcher announced a meeting of the branch seminar on "International-mindedness" to be held in the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Breakfast

4 stewed prunes with 2 tablespoons of juice

2 slices toasted dry bread

1 teaspoon butter for toast

1 shirred egg

Coffee with hot skim milk, no sugar

For those prunes you may substitute a glass of orange juice with butter, or a small dish of stewed rhubarb. However, prunes are good in a diet for more reasons than one, so eat them.

The egg can shirr while the toast is making for the family. Brush a shallow earthenware ramekin with butter, break in the egg, season with pepper and salt, slip into the oven and leave until the white is well set. Eat from the ramekin and "dunk" your toast in the yolk if you feel that way. Calory value, 510.

Chili Con Carne

2 cups red "chili" beans

1 cup pearl barley

2 pounds coarsely ground beef

2 large onions, sliced

1 green pepper, diced

2 large cloves of garlic, minced

1/4 cup bacon fat

Chili powder or mexene, about 1 1/2 tbs. according to taste

Salt, pepper, paprika and cayenne

1 large can tomatoes or 2 cans tomato hot sauce.

If you have a big family or intend to have a crowd in for supper you can easily use this amount of chili, if not, I would advise you to cut the beans and pearl barley in half and use slightly less of all the seasonings. The meat and vegetable ingredients can go as they are.

Wash the beans and soak over night. In the morning put over the fire, bring to the boil, change the water and let them simmer in fresh water until done (about two hours). Add the pearl barley during the cooking.

In the hot fat saute the onion and green pepper. As they fry pinch off bits of ground beef and add until the whole mixture is fairly well cooked. To this beef mixture add the various seasonings, cover and let simmer until the beans are done, then combine the two, add the chili powder and tomato and simmer for thirty minutes longer. Thicken if too thin.

A big dish of chili is a whole meal in itself, so plan only a crisp salad, hot rolls, and a simple dessert.

An accurate calory count is rather difficult but one might safely estimate a cupful at 400 calories, largely energy makers.

Holiday Wedding Date Revealed by Party Hostess

Although friends were aware that Miss Louise Dowling and Charles ("Curley") Fendrych were engaged it was not until Tuesday evening that they learned the young couple had been married since December 20, 1932. The news was revealed when the bride and her sister, Mrs. Chester Almy, entertained with a reception at 117 Halladay street.

In announcing her marriage which took place in Long Beach, the new Mrs. Fendrych wore her wedding gown of rough crepe in Allice blue set off by a dainty lace bertha. She wore a pretty shoulder corsage and dress accessories were in harmonizing tones with her gown which had been fashioned by her sister, Mrs. Almy, as a copy of an imported French model.

In decorating for the announcement party, the hostesses combined the bridal theme with the green symbols of St. Patrick's day and quantities of sweet peas. A delicious buffet supper was served after announcement of the wedding date, and games were played for the remainder of the evening.

Guests had anticipated that the wedding had taken place, the engagement of the young people, so had a surprise for them in the form of many handsome gifts all of which will find a place in the new home.

Mrs. Fendrych has been a resident of Santa Ana for the past five years coming here from Colorado. She is employed by a local concern. Mr. Fendrych, formerly of Oklahoma, is employed in this city. ## SCRIP OF 1907 RECALLED WHEN BANKER SPEAKS

NEWPORT BEACH, March 9.—Scrip had been issued in the United States as now proposed, two years ago, or some other method devised and put into effect at that period of increasing the amount of money in circulation, conditions would have been much better, according to Lew H. Wallace, former pioneer banker of the Newport harbor district, in a talk on scrip and money at the weekly luncheon of the Newport Harbor Service club yesterday.

Wallace told of his own experiences as a banker in Newport Beach in the "short and snappy" depression of 1907, when scrip was issued by the Los Angeles Clearing House association and circulated like money throughout Southern California. Only about a year before that Wallace had started the first bank in Newport Beach, which he headed for 25 years.

The scrip issued during the 1907 financial stringency caused a tremendous activity in buying and business generally, and a greater supply of some monetary medium would have the same effect at this time, in his opinion. He advised everybody to take scrip just like any other money, as any money was merely a medium of exchange.

The local service club is preparing for a larger meeting than usual next Wednesday noon, when Lieutenant Commander Hartley of the U.S.F. Constitution (Old Ironsides) is expected to be the guest speaker. Members of other organizations will be invited to attend.

At that time "Old Ironsides" will be docked at Long Beach from March 10 to 20. A committee consisting of H. H. Williamson, Theo. Robins and G. C. Macleod is arranging the event.

It was also announced that tentative arrangements are being made to run a special Pacific Electric train from here to Long Beach and return for a visit to the ship Thursday afternoon of next week, leaving Balboa about 1 p. m.

ORDINANCE ON BARBER SHOPS GIVEN READING

LA HABRA, March 9.—At the city council meeting Tuesday night the ordinance regulating the opening and closing of barber shops in the city was given its second reading. The city attorney was instructed to prepare an ordinance for the consideration of the council, concerning the regulation of meetings, held in tents and temporary structures, providing for a permit for their use and regulating the sanitary, wiring and heating problems in such cases, the permit to be revocable at any time.

A petition signed by property owners on East Florence avenue in the 300 block was read, asking that the council remove the trees in the parkways, which they claim are damaging the sidewalks. This matter was referred to Councilman H. A. Randall, committee on the tree planting program for the city.

City Clerk A. C. Earley reported that post cards had been sent to property owners asking them to come to the assessor's office at the city hall. This, he said, would do away with considerable expense this year. He reported that he had already had a fine response to the request.

The question of the reduction of approximately 10 per cent in the assessed valuation, according to the plan of Assessor James Sleeper, was discussed and will be taken up at the next meeting. Such a reduction in the assessed valuation, it was stated, would mean that the city government costs would have to be cut $800 for the coming year.

A resolution was adopted favoring the gas tax distribution as presented to the legislature by Assemblyman Ted Craig.

The payment of $718.06 from the water bond fund was ratified by the council.

N. M. Launer, district manager of the water company, appeared before the council and spoke from the standpoint of a property owner and asked that the council arrange a meeting whereby certain phases of the proposed water system purchased could be discussed.

He also stated that he was empowered to act as agent for the company at this meeting. The council agreed to arrange for a special meeting.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

"Ah, Mister Beetle, you are through. How easily I lassoed you," exclaimed the cowboy spider. "Now, don't try to get away. My web rope's holding you real tight and you're a funny looking sight. That's what you get for keeping all the Tinsies from their play."

"When'er you're bad, instead of good, and do not do the things you should you'll get right into trouble. Let this be a lesson, sir."

"I am afraid to let you go because I really do not know just what you'll do. I think it's best to keep you prisoner."

"Oh, no!" exclaimed the beetle. "Gee, you're being very mean to me. I only chased the Tinsies to have a little fun."

"They are so small, with legs so short. I thought it would be lots of sport to give the lads a scare. I knew that it would make them run."

Then Scouty said, "The beetle's right. I'll bet we were a funny sight. But, ere we turn him free, let's make him give us all a ride."

"His great, big wings look very strong and we have seen him move along. Why, underneath one of his wings I'm sure that I could hide."

"Hurry, for you," the beetle said. "Just free me and I'll go ahead and do just as you tell me. I feel real friendly, now."

"If you lads want a ride that's rare, I'll take you high up in the air. I'll bet you'll be so frightened you'll have frown lines on your brow."

"Oh, no," said Windy. "I am game." Then from the web the beetle came. "Hop on my back," he shouted, "and away we'll gaily go."

So Windy, being brave and bold, stepped up and did as he was told. The beetle spread his wings and all the Tinsies laughed. "Ho, ho!" (Copyright, 1933, NEA Service, Inc.)

THURSDAY, March 9—(Read Psalm 17:1-3, 5-6, 15)

They tell us now that all we do is really a quest for satisfaction. We take, however, strange roads in our quest and try too often to satisfy the hunger of the soul with the gratifications of sense. We disturb our selves and our society with our restlessness, like children not knowing what to ask or do.

The true satisfactions are in God's ways. In the love-guided life, in whatever feeds the spirit. There are deeds and dreams which do satisfy. They are what is done or sought in the spirit of Jesus Christ, in goodness and simplicity, in the loss of self for the good of others. When our goings are in God's paths, we shall find satisfaction not only at the end of the road but in all the experiences of the journey. So many of our so-called satisfactions are like troubled dreams. When we awake to the need of God we shall be satisfied.

Prayer: O Thou Who hast made our very restlessness a sign that without Thee we can not be satisfied, bring us through Christ-like love and service to the peace our spirits so desire. Forgive us all our wrong or foolish quests for satisfaction and pity us in what we have missed. Show us Thy paths to inward peace and guide us therein. In His name Who is the Bread of Life. Amen.

GUARANTEE BANK DEPOSITS

The nation-wide closing of all banks is a confession that public fear of their soundness made their further operation all but impossible. To be sure, there were still some banks that have experienced no difficulty in maintaining their cash reserves but for each such bank there were several others that did.

The withdrawal from the banks during the last two weeks of their operation amounted to $80 millions, with much more than half of this being withdrawn in the last week. The New York Federal Reserve Bank paid out a total of 116 millions in gold the last day it was open for business. While the New York Federal Bank lost the greatest amount of gold, it must be remembered that there are eleven other Federal Reserve Banks scattered over the United States, and the total of the gold lost during the last days of their operation probably will not be known for some time. It is sufficient to say that the gold reserves, which were the backbone of our currency, were in such grave danger of going into hiding, and thereby destroying our currency system, that the operation of banks had to be suspended.

Now the problem is, how to start them again and with what.

There are several answers, one is with "scrip" and another is through the guarantee of bank deposits, a third is extension of the Federal Reserve Bank's right to issue money. Each of these solutions has its limitations, and so today our governmental and business leaders are trying to work out a solution by using a combination of all.

In Southern California and other metropolitan centers it is planned to provide banks with a limited amount of scrip. This scrip will be issued the closed banks who will in turn issue it to their depositors on demand. This paper money will have as its security the loans and investments of the issuing banks. As the loans of the banks are repaid the plan is to retire the scrip.

Now the question might well be asked, "How will that help the situation?" "I don't see how people who have borrowed money from the banks will be any more able to repay their loans than before scrip was issued."

The answer is that people will not hoard scrip. It is strictly a medium of exchange. It has no more intrinsic value than the same amount of a similar quality of paper. Therefore people will say to themselves, "I had better trade it for a shirt and a pair of socks, a radio, or furniture, or pay my bills with it, than keep it in my possession." If past experience is a criterion, that is exactly what they will do. Now people look at a dollar and say to themselves, "I guess I had better keep that, I might be worse off tomorrow," with scrip in their possession they will say "I had better get something for it, or pay somebody with it." The getting of something they can consume will supply a demand for goods and people can go back to work; and as people go back to work investments that are now doubtful because of lack of orders will immediately become valuable and money now in hiding will be brought forth to purchase them. This hidden money will repay immense amounts of loans made by both private investors as well as those made by banks and other corporations.

To encourage the reappearance of money now in hiding it is also proposed to guarantee bank deposits. Either all deposits as now exist or those that will be made in the future.

Many people object to the guarantee of all bank deposits on the grounds that it will jeopardize the credit of the United States. What they really want to say is that they don't want to guarantee the banks' past mistakes. In that case either a part of the loans as they now exist, or all new deposits should be guaranteed.

The idea behind the issue of scrip and guarantee of bank deposits is that investments will increase in value due to money coming out of hiding, and being put to work, as well as through the existence of the new medium of exchange, namely scrip, and other new money.

Now if that is true then loans that are now classified as good but frozen will be sought as investments by those people who have funds to invest. In proportion as such funds exist and are put to use, banks will thaw out, and depositors can be paid. Furthermore if it is true that investment values will rise then the loans are good and the banks are not only solvent but liquid; and the fear that the government will lose is largely baseless. It might be safer, certainly it is more conservative to guarantee only new or a part of the old deposits, but if the system of thawing out credit with scrip works, and it can be made to work, no one need fear that the government is ruined just because it guarantees all deposits.

In the future banks must submit to stricter regulations. A part of the business they have been doing as commercial banking must be transferred to Investment Banks, which will accept money only on condition that it will not be demanded before a certain date, and loans made by such institutions should correspond exactly with and be payable on the date when the depositor has the right to demand his money.

We have the experience of our building and loan associations accepting money, investing it permanently and promising to pay on demand. Except for isolated instances it has been demonstrated that it is a violation of good business practice and should not be permitted. The same might well be said of thousands of solvent but frozen banks in the United States. The way out of the difficulty might be to divide each bank into two departments, one which will accept money for investment purposes and the other which will accept money for checking purposes only. Such banks as are liquid today are those that refused to make investment loans with demand deposits. In the past, banks have refused to permit the passage of legislation that would enforce this rule, in the future they should be barred from doing business unless they obey the rule.

This depression has demonstrated that you cannot always disregard good business principles without finally getting into difficulty.

PRESIDENT MAKES DECREE ON ARM STRENGTH

President Roosevelt, it appears, has caused our representatives to Geneva, to serve notice on the powers that unless there is an immediate reduction in naval armament, the United States will increase.

He declares that this will be done up to the full strength permitted by the London treaty. We are rather impressed that President Roosevelt is not in the bluffing frame of mind; that he means what he says, and we are also impressed that this will have its weight upon the other nations.

We are not in favor of increased armament. We think there has been sufficient demonstration that our vessels, in the light of the power of airplanes and bombing from the air, are practically obsolete by the time they are built. But if carrying out the suggestion of the President, and building them, will aid along the line, we wouldn't seriously object. But we hope that this challenge will be met by a reduction rather than by forcing us to increase.

Women in Art

Christian Science Monitor

It is a matter of more than merely local interest that during the last winter women in England have taken a much more active part in the art exhibitions of the country than used formerly to be the case.

In group and private shows they have exhibited their work frequently in the recent past; and in many instances this work has been hailed by art critics as of very high quality. Thus it has been said that the most interesting "one-man" shows of the last few months have almost all been held by women, while women were responsible for the most striking pictures painted for the last exhibition of the Royal Society of British Artists.

Women's entry into the field of art is the more significant because there has always existed a tendency to minimize the contribution that women in the past have made to the arts generally. One of the most successful plays, both from the artistic and the commercial points of view, now being presented in London is the work of a woman.

This is not a fact that causes any surprise, for women have long asserted their dramatic skill. In fact, the whole theatrical activity of the western world originally began with the work of a woman, the Greek goddess, who wrote plays approximately a thousand years ago. In prose literature the first woman's work that the Oxford anthology considers worthy of preservation dates back as far as 1375. In poetry it goes back to a contemporary of Milton's.

But now that they have achieved economic freedom, women's contribution to the cultural life of the world may be expected to be considerably richer and fuller than it has ever been before. Great abilities are said to be unaffected by questions of economic dependence; genius will out in a comforting theory for those who are not particularly keen for progress.

The fact remains, however, as Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch has observed, that of the first-rank poets of the nineteenth century, all but Keats and Browning were educated at one or other of the older universities. Practically every one of them, had the economic status which Mrs. Virginia Woolf classifies as allowing the possession of "a room of one's own."

It is only recently that such a status has been made possible for many women. Its effects may be far-reaching and liberating.

Words and Pictures

New York Times

Mr. Roosevelt has said "No" to a camera man for the second time in a fortnight. The President-elect thus brings cheer to the hearts of all who are aware how often and how stupidly he will have to say "No" in the trying times ahead of him. The first occasion was at Miami, just before the attempt on his life, when he declined to repeat a few sentences from his speech for the benefit of the sound-recording men. The second occasion was day before yesterday on the steps of his town house when he refused to wave his hat for the benefit of the photographers.

Camera and sound-machine have brought their own kind of vividness into the news business, but they have also brought with them an element of the artificial, the rehearsed, the posed. There has been adjustment and concession to the requirements of the photographer. No such rehearsals are needed for what is still the most vivid and authentic instrument of news reporting, the printed word.

TIP TO AUTHORS

When 'Omer smote his bloomin' lyre
He did not know the yarns he told
Would later set the world on fire
And bring in bags of minted gold.
He told his tales that men might quote them
Which did not profit him a mite,
And by and by bright boys rewrote them.
Protecting them by copyright.

The Breton bard who sang the story
Of Tristan and his Irish flame
Achieved a little passing glory
But soon the world forgot his name.
But since a handy lad at diction
Has put the legend into print
It has become best-selling fiction,
And brings him in, I'm told, a mint.

Old Plutarch's stuff, though not so rotten,
Did not, they tell me, go so strong
And probably would be forgotten
If Shakespeare hadn't come along.
But when he pulled on his pajamas
And rewrote Plutarch for days on end
To turn his history into dramas
They brought more in than he could spend.

So wherefore strain the cerebrum
Constructing stories, old or new;
Just let the ancient writers tell 'em
As canny modern authors do.
Retell the old and tried romances
With all that you possess of art.
But do not run unseemly chances;
Just copyright them at the start.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

CREDIT AND CURRENCY

The problem of credit and currency has again captured popular interest, and everybody is wondering what the Roosevelt administration is likely to do in this field.

Today and tomorrow, at the risk of repeating some points of view I have stated earlier, I want to discuss the spirit and objectives in terms of which I think the problem of credit and currency should be approached, and to speak of what the immediate problem seems to me to be.

One of the cornerstones of a sound national life is a stable credit and currency system.

The stability of a credit and currency system is not necessarily assured by the preservation of the gold standard or by standing pat on traditional credit policy. To be truly stable, a credit and currency system must be marked by three things. They are:

(1) It must be quantitatively adequate.

If at any time the volume of credit and currency are inadequate to finance the volume of business waiting to be done, the stability of the credit and currency system is threatened.

(2) It must be technically sensitive.

If at any time credit and currency lag in responding or fail to respond to the changing needs of the nation's enterprise, the stability of the credit and currency system is threatened.

(3) It must be socially responsive.

If at any time credit and currency are diverted into anti-social channels, as in the late orgy of speculation, the stability of the credit and currency system is threatened.

The credit and currency system should not be considered sacrosanct, as something state-manship must approach with hushed voice and cushioned footsteps.

As I said the other day the credit and currency system is not an idol to be worshipped but simply a tool with which to get the nation's work done.

If, let us say, a quantitative inadequacy of credit and currency exists beyond question, we should not shudder at the suggestion of currency readjustment and credit reform.

In our present situation, does any inadequacy of credit or currency exist to justify the varied proposals of currency reform that are in their air?

Of this question I shall speak tomorrow.

THE BABY ENTERTAINS

Baby had been put to bed promptly after his six o'clock feeding. He was resting in his basket like a lovely pink and white cherub, just as all babies ought to rest. There was a bustle in the hallway and then Aunt Mary's voice, "We just ran over to say goodnight to the baby. We won't stay a minute. How is the darling?"

"He's just fine, Aunt Mary. Go softly or you'll awaken him." "Isn't he just too dear. Just one little kiss. O dear, is he awake? There, there, Aunt Mary will take you, precious thing."

Aunt Mary took him on her lap and he blinked fretfully for a while but by and by brightened up and looked wide awake. "There, see? He isn't ready for bed yet. He'll sleep all the better for being awake a little longer. We must really go now. Good night, precious."

Baby didn't seem so ready to sleep this time and squirmed about a bit in his crib. His mother turned out the light, smoothed the covers about him again, and left the room.

The Grays came over to have a game of cards. The talk turned to babies. "I haven't seen the child this week, have I? I must go in just for a peek. Is he gaining?" "O, yes. Beautifully. You ought to see how strong he is getting. He can sit upright now all by himself."

"I won't make any noise. Isn't he lovely? Looks lots better. He must have gained a couple of pounds."

"O, more. I weigh him every week now and he has gained a little over three pounds since you saw him. Lift him and see for yourself."

And would you believe it that woman lifted the baby and "hefted" him in her arms just as you might a fat little pup or something like that. Of course the baby woke up and this time, being a human baby and somewhat tired by his grownup relatives, wailed aloud. It took a long time to quiet him and he didn't rest well all night. In the morning he didn't want his cereal. You can't blame him.

A baby is not out in society. He does not entertain. His business is to eat and sleep. Nobody is to visit him, nobody is to kiss him, nobody is to pick him up and shake the dinner he is trying to digest right out of his mouth. His mother is all the company he needs for quite a while. Interested relatives and friends can be allowed to view him through a glass door, or at a distance.

This may seem flimsy but it is right. The baby ought to be left alone. He cannot stand people about him. They tire him and a baby must not be tired. They ought not to kiss him. It annoys him more often than not, and it is likely to bring him some sort of illness. People carry colds about with them and distribute them to their friends' children in gestures of affection.

A baby's personality is to be respected and his stage of growth must be considered by all those about him. The baby does not entertain. Unless you are very firm about this you are likely to turn a perfectly normal healthy baby into a whining infant.
